Consultancy

Indigo conducts training, research, project development and service evaluation for health and social care organisations.

We also specialise in consultancy and training related to assessment, counselling skills, supervision, and self-care.

Supervision and self-care are important in any care-giving environment, but due to recent events in Cambodia it is a particularly relevant issue here.

Indigo also offers expert consultancy on child development and child protection issues.

Indigo can also tailor training to suit other organizational needs.

All our staff have their qualifications checked.
